Note-Sharing Platform

Mobile Web Upload Share ...

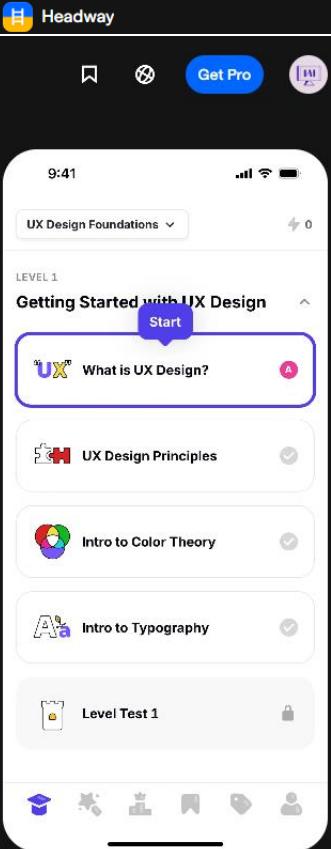

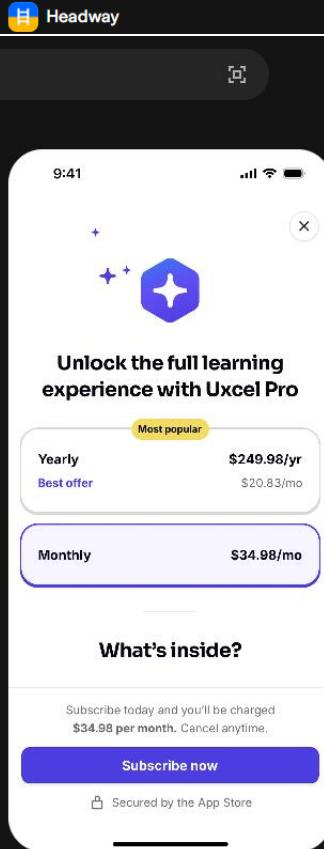

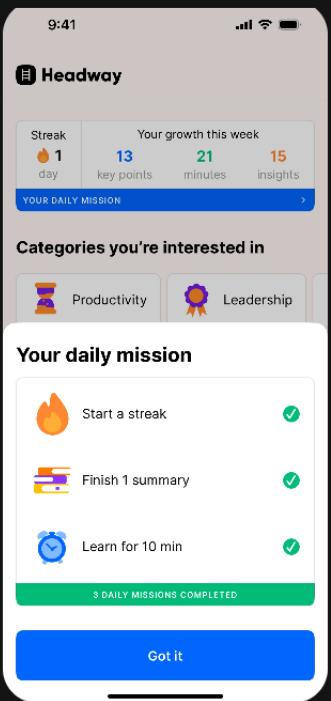

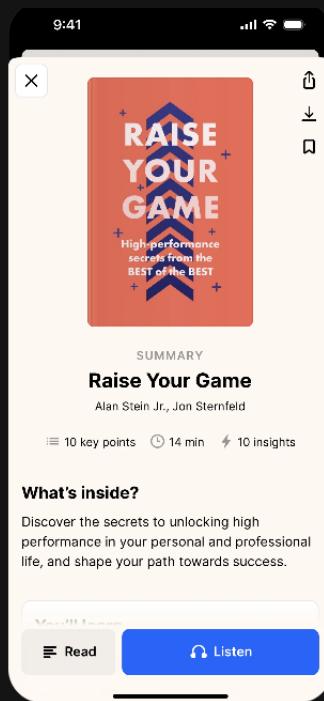

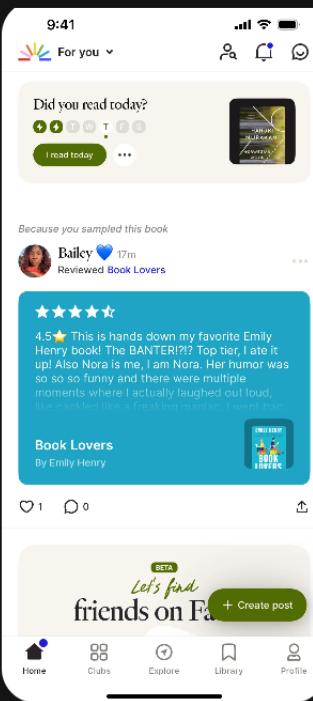

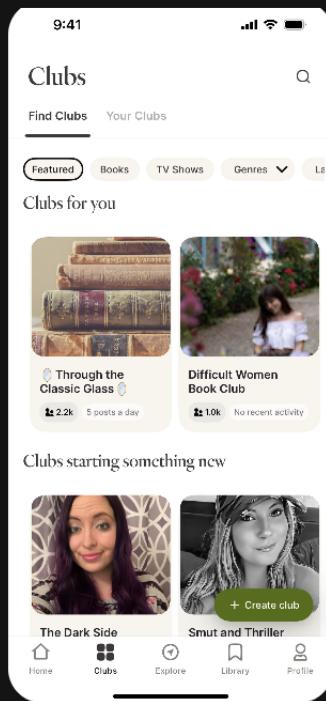

The image displays a 2x4 grid of screenshots illustrating the integration between a note-sharing platform and the Coursera mobile application.

Top Row (Mobile App Screenshots):

- Left: Shows the "Switch Catalog" screen with a list of free courses. Courses include "Indigenous Canada" (University of Alberta), "Cryptography I" (Stanford University), "Computer Science: Programming with a Purpose" (Princeton University), and "Data Science Math Skills" (Duke University).
- Middle: Shows the "Explore" screen with categories like "Personal Development" and "Physical Science and Engineering". It also shows course cards for "INFOSEC Python for Cybersecurity" (Keller Williams) and "Python for Cybersecurity" (Indigenous Canada).
- Right: Shows the "Sign Up Later" screen with the Coursera logo and a brief description: "Take the world's best courses online from top universities and industry partners."
- Far Right: Shows the "coursera" sign-up screen with fields for name ("Alex Smith"), email ("alexsmith.mobbin@gmail.com"), and password, along with terms and conditions checkboxes and a "Create an Account" button.

Bottom Row (Coursera Website Screenshots):

- Left: Shows the "Sign up" screen for the Coursera website, mirroring the mobile app's sign-up form.
- Middle: Shows the "Explore" screen with course categories and cards for "INFOSEC Python for Cybersecurity" (Keller Williams) and "Python for Cybersecurity" (Indigenous Canada).
- Right: Shows the "Search" screen with a search bar containing "project management". It lists several course results, including "Google Project Management" (Google), "Foundations of Project Management" (Google), and "Microsoft Project Management" (Microsoft).

Emma May 2023

We were only sad not to stay longer. We hope to be back to explore Nantes some more and would love to stay at Golwen's place again, if they'll have us! :)

Tanya October 2022

The location was perfect for us, the room and the amenities were exactly what we needed! We will be back again. We even loved the stairs! Thank you!
